Good For Her is proud to announce the nominees for the 10th Anniversary Feminist Porn Awards!

The 2014 Feminist Porn Awards

Toronto, ON, March 20, 2015: On Friday March 20th, 2015 Good For Her proudly announces the nominated films and websites for this year's 10th Anniversary Feminist Porn Awards (April 15th - 17th)!

Our judging criteria are:

1. Quality – We love to award films that look great. We believe it is possible to make a great-looking film even with a limited amount of resources. We consider such factors as editing, framing, lighting, sound and overall production value when making selections. Attention to detail is appreciated! Story-crafting, acting, music, and direction are all factors that reveal how much care was put into the production of a movie. (Earnest feminism is not enough.)
2. Inclusiveness – We recognize in a niche-based industry like porn not all films are for all audiences and aren't able to include everyone. But we also love it when films make an effort to explore sexualities that are often marginalized or ignored by mainstream porn.
 - It's our goal to highlight and celebrate films that appeal to a diversity of audiences.

- We like to include films that contain kink, BDSM, and consensual non-consent in a fictional context. We believe that these can be valid feminist fantasies. We do not view consensual BDSM as violence or abuse.
- We don't include or support films that rely upon sexual stereotypes. There are way more fantasy options out there and we love it when people are creative.

3. The "it" factor: Movies that showcase a unique perspective are especially appealing, whether this is about the story being told, the interactions between characters or technical aspects like framing and editing. We are always most impressed when we encounter something novel, innovative and exciting that causes us to think about sexuality in a fresh way.

4. Hotness: Bodies are well-lit, framed and shot to perfection, desire radiates off the screen, and all parties involved appear enthusiastic. Plenty of orgasms don't hurt either.

Who are these films for? The movies and websites that we select are for everyone. We wish to introduce all kinds of people to all kinds of different films. We strive to provide pleasurable viewing options for a diversity of audiences so that they can see themselves and their desires reflected on screen. This includes everyone EVERYONE from suburban soccer moms to downtown radical hipsters and all folks in between!
